

THE RESULTS!

Congratulations to our winner of the Wedding Photograh of the Year who is....

Logan Sangster of Deeside Photographics

Logan came first place in the competition which recieved over seven thousand votes from our readers all over the UK. Logan says he likes the photo because it is a classical, atmospheric, and romantic style photograph, and believes it received the most votes because it is timeless and nicely lit... An image that our future brides would perhaps like on their wall.

Logan modestly gives much praise of his photograph to its subject - the Bride. "She was beautiful both on the outside and the inside. They were both keen hill walkers, so the wedding cake was a replica Munro (Scottish Mountain) -complete with rucksack, crampons and the dog.

Logan says "I have been a photographer for over 20 years and still LOVE my job! I have met some wonderful Brides & Grooms over the years, some who have become firm friends. I get to work in outstanding Scottish Castles and Country houses that makes the experience even better. I also take family photographs for HM The Queen, and the Royal family, whilst they are in residence at nearby Balmoral Castle."

Logan believes You must meet your photographer first to make sure he or she has the right personality to make the Bride & Groom feel relaxed, at ease, and enjoy their photography.

The winning photograph was taken at Maryculter House Hotel, Nr Aberdeen Near where Logan runs his Photography business in Banchory. Visit www.deesidephoto.co.uk for more information

Congratulations Logan!

Our second place goes to Alice Alves, at Alice Alves Photography based in South Lanarkshire. Alice's photograph is fun and spontaneous and really captures the joyous mood of the day.

Alice says " The couple were lovely and having fun on their wedding day. They had a humanist ceremony where they told a story of how they met and what they loved about each other. The Groom's Father is a retired wedding photographer which I didn't know about until the day so it could have been quite scary, but luckily he was too busy enjoying the day to be bothering about me!"

Visit www.alicealvesphotography.co.uk to find out more about Alice and her work.

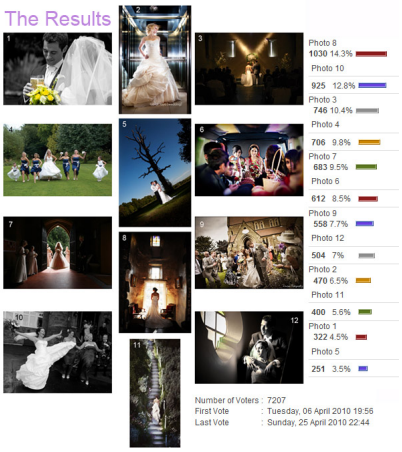

Very closely followed in 3rd place is Julia Ford. Julia works with her 'husband to be' Ian West, at Modernphotographic based in Essex, although Julia works nationwide. Julia describes the photo as a beautiful natural moment. "It isnt posed, and the light is just perfect. It captures the only real thing that matters at a wedding... the marriage itself." On the subject of wedding photography and chosing a photographer Julia says "Long after your wedding is over you will still be pouring over your photographs, you will no doubt have seen generations from your families wedding photos, think of this when you book and when you allocate budget" See more of Julia's work at www.modernphotographic.co.uk.

In position of 'runner up' is a photograph by Terry Lee of Tudor Photography in Clanfield, Oxfordshire. The reason Terry entered this photo into the competition is because he felt the image was captured during a spontaneous moment of the wedding. "It's very easy to get carried away and over-edit images following a wedding, but this is straight out of the camera and retains its natural feel. With the bride being a Fitness Instructor, the photograph seemed particularly apt!"

To see more wedding photography by Terry and the team at Tudor Photographic visit www.tudorphotography.co.uk

The Results
Photo 8
1030 14.3%
Photo 10
925 12.8%
Photo 3
746 10.4%
Photo 4
706 9.8%
Photo 7
683 9.5%
Photo 6
612 8.5%
Photo 9
558 7.7%
Photo 12
504 7%
Photo 2
470 6.5%
Photo 11
400 5.6%
Photo 1
322 4.5%
Photo 5
251 3.5%
Number of Voters : 7207
First Vote : Tuesday, 06 April 2010 19:56
Last Vote : Sunday, 25 April 2010 22:44

Many Thanks to the hundreds of initial competition entries, Thanks and congratulations to our 12 finalists, a special congratulations to our winner Logan at Deeside Photographics . And not forgetting our readers for voting... Thank you! Please contact us should you wish to learn more about any of our 12 finalists. photo@ukweddingbelles.com