

This adventurous pairing create a striking impact on any wedding reception. Although bold, the two colours harmonise well together. If you favour one of the colours more than the other, you can use that as your main colour and the other as an accent colour.

